Navigant Consulting launches Regulatory Strategy, Risk and Compliance solutions to UK financial services industry

Navigant Consulting, the global consulting firm providing dispute, investigative, operational, risk management and financial advisory solutions, has launched a new risk and regulation division of their UK financial services practice. Regulatory Strategy, Risk and Compliance (RSRC) has been established to give Navigant's clients independent advice to help them manage regulation in order to protect, enhance, and create value and generate sustainable growth.

The new RSRC team will focus on three areas:

- Governance: establishing a strong risk management and compliance culture;
- Systems and Controls: building effective risk and compliance frameworks;
- Outcomes: ensuring that the vision and strategy of the company is executed in a clear, fair and consistent way.

The RSRC team, which includes expert risk and compliance professionals, is led by Peter Brooke, a former consultant from Huntswood Consulting. Peter has over 20 years experience in compliance, including serving at Barclays as Private Clients & International Compliance Director and as European Compliance Director.

Peter Brooke, Director of RSRC at Navigant Consulting said;
"The newly developed RSRC team is comprised of leading professionals from the risk and compliance industry who bring a refreshing, pragmatic approach. Our main aim is to help clients in retail banking, insurance and investment management to establish appropriate and effective governance and decision-making. We also have experience in helping companies change their behaviour and organisational culture to meet regulatory expectations."

Brooke continues, "Regulatory pressure on the Board, non-executive directors and directors has increased dramatically, and the FSA have clearly signaled that this will continue to be the case. Firms' business models and strategies are also subject to much more intense FSA scrutiny. We will be working with senior management to help them respond to the radical, new FSA approach"
